This day personally appeared before the undersigned, O. P. Grimes, sheriff in and for said county, W. D. Ascough, N. B. Hames and Frank Schreiber, and jointly and severally acknowledged themselves to owe and be indebted unto the people of the state of Colorado in the sum of fifteen hundred ($1,500) dollars, to be levied of their goods and chattels, lands and tenements, if default be made in the premises and conditions following, to-wit:

Whereas, An information was filed against the above bounden W. D. Ascough by the district attorney of the Fourth judicial district of the state of Colorado, at the September term, A. Will Schreiber Answer?

In a weak-kneed defense of direct charges in The Gazette, Schreiber sidesteps, and, in the Hamlin organ, an attempt is made to exonerate him from unfair discrimination in favor of the street car company.

Taxpayers are still asking Schreiber this question:

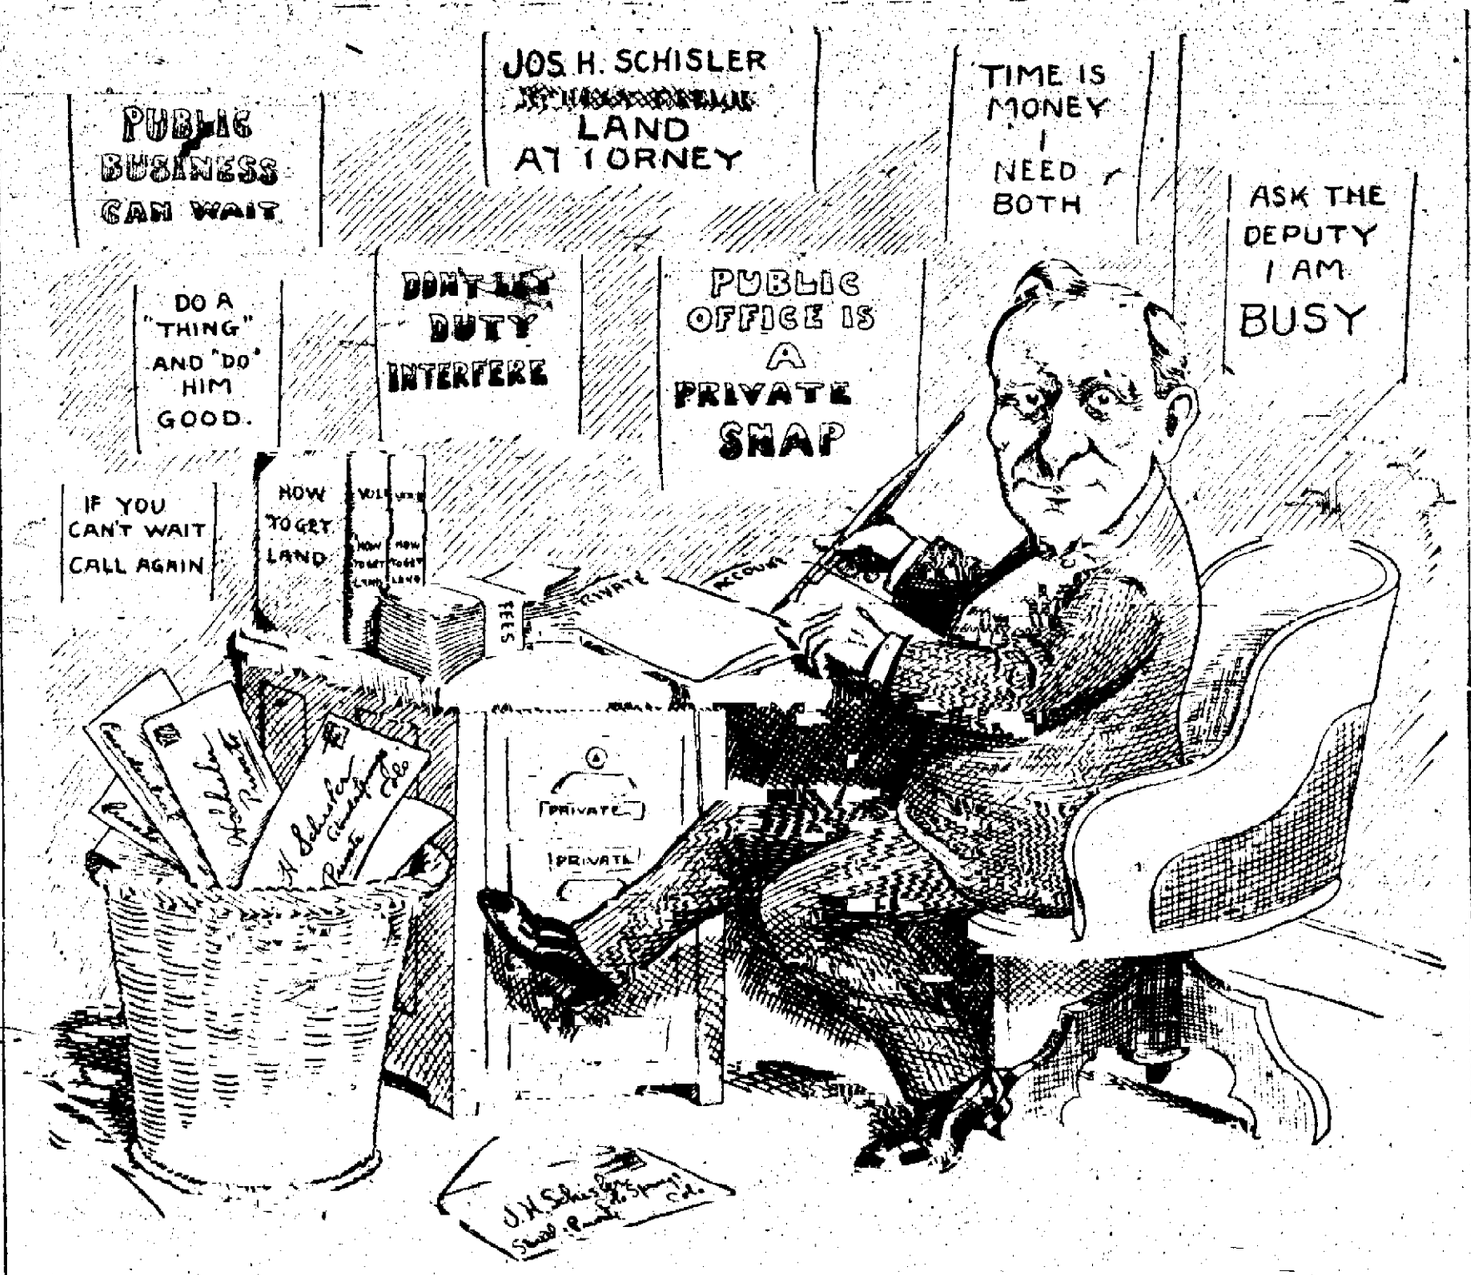

DID HE NOT REDUCE THE ASSESSED VALUATION OF STRATTON PARK FROM $7,000 (the valuation of his predecessor) TO $2,000 SHORTLY AFTER HE WAS APPOINTED TO FILL THE UNEXPIRED TERM IN MAY, 1905?

DID HE NOT RAISE THE VALUATION IN OCTOBER OR NOVEMBER OF THAT SAME YEAR, TO $6,000, ON BEING ASKED EMBARRASSING QUESTIONS BY CITIZENS?

DID HE NOT AGAIN CUT THE FIGURES TO $2,000 WITHIN A MONTH OR TWO AFTER HE WAS RETURNED TO OFFICE, TWO YEARS AGO?

FINALLY, DID HE NOT AGAIN CUT THE ASSESSED VALUATION OF THE PARK FROM EVEN THE ABSURDLY LOW FIGURE OF $2,000

BANK GUARANTY PLAN IS FAULTY

FARMER'S IDEA OF BRYAN'S PET SCHEME.

HAS STUDIED IT ALL OUT

CONTRARY TO EVERY RULE AND LAW OF COMMON SENSE.

FOOLHARDY TO VOTE FOR IT

Let Test Now Being Conducted in Oklahoma Continue Long Enough to Prove Worth of the Scheme Before Nation Adopts It, He Says.

By J. Dwight Funk.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 18.—The farmers out in my part of the country are doing more talking about Mr. Bryan's plan to compel the banks of this country to guarantee each other's deposits than about any other plank in the Democratic platform, if not all the other planks combined. Being a plain farmer, I naturally look at this from a farmer's standpoint.

When this scheme was first proposed it looked mighty plausible to me and I said to myself that it would certainly be a fine thing for the people to feel they could walk into a bank—no matter how big or how little and plump their money into it with the comfortable certainty that, to all practical purposes, Uncle Sam was standing right there at the receiving teller's window, counting in the money and saying: "I am back of this proposition, and you have my pledge that every will be paid back to you when you want it."

Proposition Deceptive at First.

This is just the kind of a vision that comes before your eyes when you read the Democratic platform, and read or hear the speech of Mr. Bryan, Senator Gore of Oklahoma, and the rest of the silver-tongued orators of the Democratic party by speaking with my neighbors and friends, and listening to the discussions on the streets and in the stores of our town, I have discovered that I am not the only Republican who felt, at first blush, that this scheme for guaranteeing bank deposits was about the most plausible and persuasive thing that the political platform makers have sprung on us for a long time.

But the only thing that troubled me right at the start, before I settled down to think the thing out for myself, was the source from which the proposition comes. While it looked mighty good to me I could not help but remember it was offered by the same man who had tried to work off on the American people a whole lot of other silver-and-political novelties, like the 16 to 1 automatic cash coiner and the seven-little device for the regulation and control of railroads whereby Uncle Sam was to be the general superintendent of the big trunk lines, and all the small roads were to be paroled out to be run by the various states.

Recalls Bryan's Former Fallacies.

It has been repeatedly said that Mr. Bryan possesses a marvelously simple and childlike nature and that he will never grow old. When I think of his proposition to parcel out the control of the great railroad properties of this country along the lines laid down in New York after his return from Europe I am ready to believe too much cannot be said on the score of his simplicity.

Decree of May, 1908, Which Holland Insists Be Revoked, Forbids Trans-shipment of Venezuelan Cargoes at Port of Willemstad.

Haskin.

War Will Begin Soon.

While something may happen to prevent a clash of arms, and while the Dutch may give Castro an extension beyond November 1, the diplomatists of Caracas confidently expect that the ports of Venezuela will be blockaded and that actual war will have begun before the middle of next month. This view is held by everybody in Caracas who knows anything about the situation. As the Castro newspapers—there are no others—have not printed the news about the situation, the

Castro

Is now, and for a long time has been, the most interesting figure in international politics. In his veins flows the blood of the white Venezuelan of Spanish descent, the Indian and the negro. Judged by accepted standards for men of his position he is uneducated and unlearned—almost an ignoramus—but he was shrewd enough and strong enough to make himself dictator of Venezuela, and for years he has successfully bullied one after another of the great powers, including the United States.

Now it appears that Holland, the smallest and least powerful of the governments that Castro has successively insulted, is to call his bluff. According to present indications, war between Holland and Venezuela is likely to begin soon after November 1.

Today THE GAZETTE begins a series of twelve letters from its special correspondent,

FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Who has recently returned from Venezuela, where he made a thorough investigation of the situation. These letters will appear in THE GAZETTE daily until the series is completed. The second one, on "The Trans-Shipping Issue," will be printed tomorrow, and the third on "The Attitude of Venezuela," next Thursday.

Watch for them. They will be the best and most complete account of the complicated situation in Castro's troubled land that has appeared in any American newspaper, and will aid materially in a full understanding of coming news events.

FOUR PERSONS ARE KILLED BY TORNADO

SEVERE STORM STRIKES NEW MEXICO NEAR CLAYTON.

Telephone and Telegraph Wires Are Blown Away and Miles of Poles Leveled—C. & S. Trains Lose.

CLAYTON, N. M., Oct. 19.—Four persons were killed near Clayton last night, as the result of a tornado and cloudburst. Twenty other persons were more or less injured, three of whom, it is believed, will die. The dead are:

W. B. HAIGHT.

J. S. FOX, WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

Among the injured are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowen and their five children, Thomas Downs and John Byrne.

The new Union county court house, which cost $40,000, was wrecked and a score of houses were wrecked or torn from their foundations.

Telephone and telegraph wires were blown away and miles of poles leveled. Telegraph communication with Denver was not re-established until 11:30 o'clock this morning. The damage in the business section of the town was not heavy.

The Colorado and Southern railroad sustained a heavy loss. Clayton was in utter darkness after the tornado until daylight and there will be no lights tonight.

The water system was also put out of commission by the storm, and the town is without water.

The storm was severe in other sections. At Folsom, where 19 persons were drowned last August, the Cimarron river rose to within a foot of high water mark, causing a panic among the people, who fled in terror to the hills.

The only damage done there was to the Colorado & Southern railroad tracks. It is reported that many houses and much damage was done to outlying places inhabited by homesteaders. Full details as yet are not obtainable.

DENVER, Oct. 19.—In an official statement given out at the conclusion of the annual meeting of stockholders today, officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company announced that a policy of expansion had been decided upon by which the company ultimately hopes to supply practically all the rails and railroad supplies to railroads operating west of the Missouri river, as well as disposing of a

WARSHIPS COMPLETE TOUR OF THE WORLD

ALABAMA AND MAINE REACH ATLANTIC COAST.

More 35,000 Miles in 309 Days. Vessels in Almost as Good Condition as When They Left.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Through a dull brown curtain of haze and smoke which overhung the tortuous entrance to New York harbor this afternoon the battleship Alabama crept cautiously into port and dropped anchor off Tompkinsville, completing a voyage around the world in 309 days. More than 35,000 miles of all the seas of all the world lay behind her.

Except in one particular, the Alabama finished her trip as fit for a fight as when she sailed from Hampton Roads on December 16 last, as one of the great fleet which went forth on a mission of peace. Seven years of steaming has put the boilers of the great ship to a severe test and repairs are necessary.

In a few days the Alabama will go to the navy yard at Brooklyn to undergo an overhauling.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 19.—The battleship Maine, after making the circuit of the globe, was sighted off the entrance to Portsmouth harbor at 7 a. m. today under a convoy of three tugs, which had waited outside to meet her. A thick bank of fog delayed the arrival somewhat but the Maine was successfully docked at 9:15 a. m. As she swung around Henderson's Point under her own steam, her guns boomed out a rear admiral's salute of 13 guns, which was immediately answered by a commander's salute of 11 guns by the navy yard battery.

The Maine was escorted by the three tugs on her way to the navy yard, but came all the distance under her own steam. As the big battleship was warped into the dock, the jackies on board and those stationed in the yard gave vent to prolonged cheers.

The Maine today ended together with the battleship Alabama, which is expected to arrive at the New York navy yard tomorrow, the most spectacular around-the-world cruise ever made by a first-class modern warship.

Guaranteed Bank Deposits

Mr. Bryan's plan of guaranteed bank deposits, adopted from the Oklahoma constitution, and indorsed in the Democratic platform, has become one of the leading issues of the campaign. The Gazette today begins the publication of a series of six articles in which this important question is discussed from every standpoint by able writers.

The first, which appears in this issue, is "A Farmer's Idea of Bryan's Banking Scheme," by J. Dwight Funk of Bloomington, Ill., owner of the Consolidated Funk farms of 25,000 acres, and an authority who has lectured throughout the middle west on modern farming.

Tomorrow a staff correspondent, now in Oklahoma, contributes a letter showing that, among other evil effects of the guaranty law, the bars will be let down to unscrupulous promoters and men inexperienced in banking affairs, who by mandamus proceedings can force the state to grant them bank charters.

Next Thursday, Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, a member of the United States Monetary Commission, shows that the law forces the honest bankers to guarantee the speculations of dishonest bankers, about which he can know nothing, and that in the long run the borrower and the depositor must foot the bill. This article appeals especially to the salaried classes and proprietors of small businesses.

Next Saturday, October 24, an article by D. J. Keefe, president of the Longshoreman's union, shows the wage earner how the proposed guaranty law will work to his detriment.

On Tuesday, October 27, a prominent manufacturer urges the point that just as any good business man tries out his national campaign on a small scale at first, so the guaranty plank should be thoroughly tested in Oklahoma before being tried on a large scale.

The last letter of the series, to be published Thursday, October 29, will be the latest information from our correspondent in Oklahoma, who will doubtless find as much more red-hot material as his first letters shows.

Read these articles. They will appear in consecutive issues of The Gazette, and will help you to understand this important issue of the national campaign.

To this end, according to the statement, the Gould interests have withdrawn from active control of the company, in order that any suspicion of favoritism to certain railroad lines may be dissipated, and John D. Rockefeller has been asked to name the men who shall control the management of the company in the future.

The following board of directors was chosen: Frederick T. Gates, Edwin Hawley, J. H. McClement, S. J. Murphy, George J. Gould, E. H. Harriman, Willard D. Ward, E. T. Jeffery, H. E. Cooper and L. M. Bowers, all of New York; J. F. Welborn, D. C. Beaman and J. A. Writer, all of Denver.

The newly elected officers include: President, J. F. Welborn; vice president and treasurer, L. M. Bowers.

Secretary and general counsel, D. C. Beaman.

L. M. Bowers was elected chairman of the executive board.

The statement issued tonight insists that this does not lessen the power of Mr. Welborn, who is also a member of the executive committee.

vere loss of life in northern Pulaski and Krakow townships in Presque Isle county. At least 60 families were living near the shore of Lake Huron in the northern half of Pulaski and Krakow townships and nothing has been heard from them since the fire.

At Grand Lake, a farmer and wife and four children are known to have taken refuge in a boat and nothing has been heard from them since. A dozen school children sent home by teachers have not been heard from. While big fires are still burning throughout the northern tier of counties, not a single village or town is now known to be in danger and only the Hurst branch of the Detroit and Mackinaw railroad is out of commission.

Some apprehension is felt for Grace Harbor which is located on the shore of Lake Huron, northeast of here. No word has been received from there since the fire.

At the lowest estimate there are 2,000 people homeless and there is not even an adequate supply of water.

The Detroit and Mackinaw Railroad company ordered 150 pumps sent into the fire district. The relief fund at Alpena has reached $3,000 and is growing rapidly.

SHELBROOK, Ia., Oct. 19.—Fire which started here during last night, and which was got under control early today, destroyed 15 business houses and caused a loss of $150,000.

REAL ISSUE OF THE CAMPAIGN

dication of the character of speeches he will make in the Empire state next week. Mr. Taft spent three hours in Newark, an hour in Wilmington and the entire evening in Baltimore. He encountered tremendous crowds and enthusiasm spontaneous and ample. His extended efforts of the day were at Newark, Elizabeth and Baltimore.

At Newark, he gave attention to all the issues save labor. In his Elizabeth speech he dwelt solely on the labor question, and tonight he combined the Newark and Elizabeth speeches.

The zest with which Delaware received the candidate resulted in curtailing the Wilmington speech to a few lines.

"I can only say to you," he remarked, "that from what I have seen in New Jersey today and what I have seen in Delaware today, and what I saw in the south and west the last three weeks, I am going to be elected and it would give me the greatest pride if in that electoral vote I could have the three Delaware votes.

Real Issue of Campaign.

"The real issue of the campaign," said Mr. Taft, tonight, "is whether you think the Republican party, by what it has done in the last 12 years, is entitled to your confidence. Even if it has done something to displease you, is it not much to be preferred to the Democratic party under any circumstances, considering the history of that party and considering the peculiarities—to use no more offensive expression—of the leadership of that party?"

The acts of the Republican party were then recounted. Establishing the gold standard, repealing the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill, and enacting the Dingley tariff bill; fighting the Spanish war.

"We put the Cubans on their feet, as we supposed. They stayed there for three years, then they fell on their knees and we had again to go and help them to their feet.

"In Porto Rico we have made a million people rejoice every night and every day and thank God that they are under the prosperity that the stars and stripes have given.

"Then we took up the Philippines—the hardest problem that we had to solve as the result of the war.

"Today, half a million Filipino school children are reading, writing and reciting in English; we have given them practical control over the central government and full control over the provincial and municipal governments.

Panama Canal.

"We took up the Panama canal, which for four hundred years, since the time of Charles the Fifth, had been the subject of discussion. Under the present administration there has been an organization of the brains, machinery and the hands in such a way that in the course of five or six years anyone who knows about the work can promise its completion so that your navy will sail from the Caribbean to the Pacific."

Mr. Taft next took up what he termed the "moral awakening," respecting the conduct of large business enterprises, resulting in a "quickening of the American conscience."

"You would think from statements of Mr. Bryan," he added, "that no progress has been made but the progress is truly remarkable. Through the passage of the rate bill, the railroads themselves have abandoned rebating, have abandoned unlawful discriminations and have taken away the chief instrumentality by which unlawful trusts and monopolies have been maintained."

Judge Taft followed this with his indorsement of the combination of capital for legitimate purposes. He said:

Combination of Capital.

"The combination of capital is just as essential to our progress as the combination of the parts of a machine, and the fact that the capital is great and the number of plants needed are many is no reason for denouncing them as illegal, unless they are used for an illegal purpose. The normal, legal purpose of such combination is to reduce the cost of production by inducing economy in the management of the capital. It is only when undue means are taken to stifle competition that they cross the line of legality and that they ought to be ... [illegible]

"Therefore, Mr. Roosevelt and the Republican administration have directed their attention to prosecuting the exact evil, which is the attempt to monopolize.

"Mr. Bryan, on the other hand, proposes to take steps which shall destroy the entire business ... [illegible] that we shall abolish the tariff on what are called trust-made articles. If you are going to take off the tariff on trust-made articles you are going to destroy all right; there will be no difficulty. And you are going to throw out of employment the millions of men engaged as wage earners in those great b[usi]nesses, and you are also going to destroy the independent competitors of the trusts, for they are just as dependent on the tariff—indeed more so—than the trusts themselves."

Mr. Taft's expressions on the tariff were:

Revision of Tariff.

"The Republican party is in favor and is pledged to a thorough and genuine revision of the tariff on a well-understood principle and that is that every industry, every product of the farm, the mine or the factory in this country shall be protected against foreign competition by a customs duty equal to the difference in the cost of production here and the cost of production abroad. That includes three elements and perhaps more, but three certainly—the cost of material, the cost of labor and the manufacturers' profit or the interest on capital. You take those three elements abroad and add them together and take the difference and that measures what the customs duty ought to be. The normal operation will be to reduce the tariff so that it shall continue to be the difference between the cost of production abroad and the cost of production here, but so that no legitimate industry in this country shall suffer, and where peculiar circumstances have prevented that reduction in the cost of production here the tariff shall be revised and elevated, if need be, in order to make the same measure of protection. But as I say, the general result will probably be a revision downward.

"But it is said the protected interests own the party by contributions to the campaign funds and therefore that the Republican party does not dare give us an honest and thorough revision. Well, I am somewhat familiar with the total of the campaign fund and I am able to advise every one that there is not enough there to debauch either a party of people or a very small body of persons and that if anybody is aching to contribute to something that needs support he has the opportunity by sending it to the campaign fund."

Taft's Voice in Bad Condition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—That Judge Taft's voice is in such bad condition that he will have to cancel many of his dates for speaking was indicated by Chairman Hitchcock on his return today from a morning visit to Mr. Taft at Newark, N. J. This means a rearrangement of Mr. Taft's itinerary, but it will not affect his dates in New York. He will be in this city as arranged.

The rearrangement will cut out all of Mr. Taft's day speeches and one of his night speeches. The latter is the speech which had been planned for Chicago next Saturday night.

It is also expected that most of Mr. Taft's dates in West Virginia will be canceled. Mr. Hitchcock is at work now on the West Virginia situation, so far as Mr. Taft is concerned. The dates for Taft's speeches in Connecticut also may be canceled. Dr. Richardson, the throat specialist, who is traveling with Mr. Taft, is of the opinion that his voice has been affected chiefly by his outdoor speaking. By abandoning the day speeches, which were to have been made out of doors, it is believed that Mr. Taft will be able to meet all of his night engagements with the exception of that at Chicago.

Mr. Hitchcock said that he never saw the candidate looking better and that Mr. Taft is more hopeful of the result than he has been at any time since the campaign began. He will rest in Ohio, Wednesday. Chairman Hitchcock believes, from information he has received, that there is a fighting chance in Missouri for the Republican national ticket. Mr. Hitchcock expects to go to Chicago within the next five days.

General O. O. Howard of Vermont, came to headquarters today to volunteer to take the stump for Taft and Sherman. He was assigned to the campaign in Ohio from October 23 to October 27, and in Indiana from October 28 to October 31.

TO $1,800, FOR 1907, DESPITE THE FACT THAT A NEW DANCING PAVILION, WORTH $25,000, HAD BEEN BUILT BY THE COMPANY IN STRATTON PARK IN THE INTERIM?

WILL MR. SCHREIBER SAY DIRECTLY, YES OR NO, WHETHER HE JUGGLED THESE FIGURES AS STATED?

The afternoon organ argues that if there is reason for increasing the assessed valuation of Stratton park, there is equally good ground for raising the valuation of the Garden of the Gods, the High Drive and other points of scenic interest. This is absurd on its face, since Stratton park, unlike the other places mentioned, is conducted purely for profit, and the 20-cent street car fare which must be paid for the round trip is equivalent to an admission fee.

WAR WILL LIKELY BE AVOIDED

Prospect of Peaceful Settlement of Near Eastern Difficulties Is Growing Brighter.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The latest phase of the Balkan difficulty points to the possibility of the most serious issues being settled by direct negotiation before the purposed international congress meets leaving to the congress the work merely of ratifying and legalizing the arrangements already made.

Confirmation is had from Vienna of the statement that negotiations have been opened between Turkey and Austria concerning Bosnia and Herzegovina with fair prospects of success, while Constantinople dispatches are more hopeful that Turkey and Bulgaria will ... CLOUDBURST TIES UP TRAFFIC

Four Inches of Rainfall Reported at Lamar, Colo.—Santa Fe Bridges Are Washed Out.

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 19.—With fretting tourists shivering in a driving rain on the streets, Lamar looks like an ocean, after a cloudburst which struck this city early today, registering a fall of nearly four inches.

The Arkansas river, already a torrent, is rising rapidly, and the large bridge over this stream is momentarily in danger of being swept away. The approaches are already washed out and the water is surging a half mile out of its banks on either side of the river.

All of the irrigating systems north of the river are breaking and flooding valuable farm lands. Most of the crops, however, are past danger and the loss will not be great. Sand Creek and Mud Creek bridges on the Santa Fe between this place and Bowers, are out and traffic will be delayed 24 hours.

All communication with the outside world was cut off until a late hour this morning. Five passenger trains from the east are anxiously awaiting orders to proceed. The trains from the west have not been heard from.

MANY CHINESE ARE KILLED

Breaking of Dikes and Overflow of West River Results in a Heavy Loss of Life.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 19.—Local Chinese have received cablegrams telling of heavy loss of life and great desolation in Helping, China, as a result of the breaking of the dikes and overflow of the West river, inundating the district for hundreds of miles. The number of killed is not given, but the message states that the loss has been immense and starvation is feared, and it appeals to the Chinese board to send aid. Subscriptions from local Chinese were made within a short time after the receipt of the cablegrams, which totaled $7,000, the amount being cabled to Chinese officials at Canton for distribution among the sufferers. The disaster came at the time of harvest when the crops are ready to be taken from the fields.

GUS ROGERS IS DEAD

One of the Rogers Brothers, Comedians, Dies of Appendicitis.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Gus Rogers of the stage comedy team of Rogers Brothers, died here late today of appendicitis. Rogers had an attack of appendicitis in Chicago in 1902, but he deferred the operation. He improved, and so was able to resume his work on the stage. He was taken sick in Utica, N. Y., three weeks ago.

Gus Rogers was one of the best known low comedians on the American stage. The brothers, Max and Gus, started their stage career in Austin and Stone's music hall in New York in 1889. They did a German dialect and knockabout act.

Ten years ago, after becoming well known in vaudeville, they were signed by Klaw and Erlanger. They appeared in "The Round of Pleasure," and later starred in "The Reign of Terror," "The Rogers Brothers in London" and other pieces were written for them.

Gus Rogers was said to be worth $300,000, most of which is invested in theatrical property in this city.

A widow, Maude Raymond, a vaudeville player, and two children, survive him.

WIND BLOWS TRAIN OFF TRACK

Two Persons Killed and Many Others Seriously Hurt.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 19.—Two persons were killed and 28 others more or less seriously injured as the result of a small tornado blowing the caboose of a Union Pacific work train down a 30-foot embankment near Sherman, 30 miles west of here this evening. The two men killed were laborers and their names could not be ascertained tonight. Among those in the caboose was Traveling Auditor Sumption of the Union Pacific railroad, who escaped without serious injury.

A relief train with physicians was started from here as soon as notice of the wreck was received and all possible assistance was rendered to the injured.

The wind blew a gale during the afternoon and developed into a small tornado in the evening. The other cars in the train were flats and did not leave the track.

SCHOOLMA'AM GETS FIRST

DALLAS, S. D., Oct. 19.—More than 119,000 persons who have registered for the drawing of farms on the rich Rosebud Indian reservation heard that Miss May A. Helser of Kenebrae, S. D., a school teacher, had been so fortunate as to secure first choice of sections. The drawing was held in the big government tent and about 3,000 persons who had registered remained until the drawing today to learn the result of their attempt to secure one of the fine Indian farms.

JAPAN'S WELCOME IS MOST GENUINE

REAR ADMIRAL SPERRY DELIGHTED WITH RECEPTION.

Effort Apparent on Part of Japanese to Wipe Out All Misunderstanding Between Countries.

TOKIO, Oct. 19.—The reception accorded the American Atlantic fleet by the government and people of Japan is conceded by the American naval officials to be the heartiest and the most perfectly carried out of the many receptions received by the fleet since it sailed from Hampton Roads. Rear Admiral Sperry said to the Associated Press today, that he was utterly unable to say how it had been accomplished, but that the welcome given the fleet and its officers and men here has been so carefully planned and carried out to the most minute detail that a lasting impression has been stamped upon the mind of every American who has witnessed it.

The men of the American and Japanese fleets are fraternizing everywhere in Tokio and Yokohama. Every wish of the American sailors is anticipated and each bluejacket finds an English-speaking guide among the Japanese sailors. The American uniform is the "open sesame" everywhere, the cordiality of the Japanese extending even to the inhabitants of even the most remote villages. It is impossible to doubt the sincerity of the Japanese. The American officers and sailors are already beginning to understand the fact that the evident desire on the part of the Japanese for the friendship of America is not founded upon opportunism; but finds its source in a sincere desire to show that such friendship, at least on the part of Japan, has existed always and that this visit of the fleet has merely afforded the Japanese an opportunity for the expression of that feeling.

There can be no doubt that the simultaneous visits of the American exposition commissioners, the Pacific coast business men and the Atlantic fleet are a part of an organized plan of the Japanese to finally wipe out all misunderstanding between Japan and America and to give the visiting Americans an insight into the real attitude of Japan toward the United States.

It is absolutely certain that already the desired effect upon Americans has been produced. Since the arrival of the fleet, not a single unpleasant incident has occurred, though the sailors of both fleets are swarming through the towns about Yokohama and Tokio.

Speaking at the dinner given by Ambassador O'Brien last night, Admiral Sperry said that he was unable to account for the perfect way in which the reception to himself and his men had been carried out; but that it certainly surpassed anything of the kind that he had ever seen.

Early on Tuesday morning Admiral Sperry will be received at the imperial palace and on the morning of Wednesday the admirals and captains of the fleet will be the guests of the emperor at the palace. Admiral Sperry will convey to the emperor a message from President Roosevelt. The words of this message have not been given out; but there is reason to believe that it breathes a spirit of friendship and sympathy and expresses keen appreciation of the traditional friendship between the two nations and an earnest wish for the strengthening and continuance of the friendly relations of the past.

It is uncertain what reply the emperor will make when this message is presented by Admiral Sperry, but it is considered possible that he may break his rule and make some statement in terms similar to those used by President Roosevelt.

Three thousand sailors from the American fleet are granted shore liberty daily and it is remarkable that notwithstanding their long confinement aboard ship, not a single difficulty has been reported, bearing out the statement of Admiral Sperry, made in one of his speeches here, that the American sailor of today is the result of that development and education which Japan is seeking in every department of her national life.

Americans throughout Japan are enthusiastic regarding the visit of the fleet and the cordiality of the reception accorded their fellow countrymen though the program is elaborate and so fully carried out that at times it becomes almost monotonous. Still, the visiting Americans are given the opportunity to see more of Japan than any ordinary tourist could possibly accomplish in the same time.

PLAGUE ATTACKS INDIANS

New Disease Akin to Grip Is Wiping Out the Crees.

From the New York Times.

A deadly disease, in some respects like the grip, but highly contagious and far more mortal than the grip in this climate, has already attacked the depleted tribes of the Cree Indians, on the shores of James and Hudson bays, killing men, women and children by scores. Alanson Skinner, of the department of anthropology of the American Museum of Natural History, who recently returned from an exhaustive study of the people of that country, brought the news of the plague to this city.

"The disease apparently came from nowhere," said Mr. Skinner yesterday. "The Indians had never heard of it before, and when men were stricken one day and died the next, their relatives and friends became panic-stricken. The illness manifested itself in colds, followed by coughs, fever and nausea. Unless the sufferers were of very strong physique, they died quickly. In several tribes every aged man, delicate woman, and practically all the children were wiped out in a few days by the malady. Only the able-bodied men resisted it and a few of the stronger women.

"There was but one doctor, a Scotchman, to cover a territory of hundreds of square miles. Many of the tribes he was unable to visit. But the way in which the stricken Indians turned, in their distress, to a white, no matter who, was pitiful."

[BAN]K GUARANTEE PLAN IS FAULTY

[ch]ildlikeness, and his inability to [...] up.

[I] say, even at the outset and while [...] the looks of this scheme to guar[antee] bank deposits by an act of Con[gress,] I could not get away from the [feeling t]hat I'd a good deal rather have the proposition handed out to me by some person who had not stood on the street corners, under a gasoline torch, doing sleight-of-hand tricks and selling political novelties that were run down, out of date, and on the retired list in less than twelve months from the time of offering.

This unusual feeling about the source of the suggestion forced me to sit down and hold a session with myself to see if this offering from Mr. Bryan was the real thing this time or just another silver-plated political novelty that looks mighty fascinating under the flare of a gasoline torch, but has the same incompetent insides underneath the plating that Mr. Bryan's other dream packages have contained.

Biggest Failures Political Banks.

The first thing that came to me out of my cogitations was the fact that it is a mighty big and a mighty ticklish proposition to jump right in and put a political saddle on the back of every national bank in the country. It occurred to me, offhand, that the biggest banks that have gone to smash of late years have been what the newspapers have called political banks—those whose officers have had close political associations and have mixed politics with banking.

Some instances of wrecked banks of this kind that come to my mind on the spur of the moment are the Walsh banks in Chicago, the Dougherty bank in Peoria, and the Allegheny National bank. If this is a fair sample of the kind of mess which comes from mixing politics with banking I want to keep my own money as far away from the bank that is traveling under a political saddle as I can, and it seems to me there is no use denying the plan proposed by Mr. Bryan and his followers will put the banks under the political saddle to a much greater extent than they now are.

Proposition Merits Careful Study.

Again, when you come to think of it soberly, this scheme to jump in and compel the banks of the country to guarantee each other's deposits is fooling with a mighty big proposition; for the deposits in national banks alone averaged last year $4,319,035,000. It is the bigness of the thing itself and the consequences involved in any kind of a plan to tinker with it that should make every sane man in the country stop short and ask himself the question: Has this thing ever been tried out?

It was that question which brought me up standing. Right then and there I began to do a little thinking and a little investigating. For one thing, I found out that the average annual percentage of loss of deposits in national banks, from 1865 to 1906, compared with the average annual deposits, is only one-twentieth of 1 per cent.

Now, that looks to me as if the national banks are doing pretty well just as they stand, and that their depositors are not entitled to do much kicking on the score of security. When you compare this with the percentage of loss which men have to suffer in business and other investments in which they put their money, it looks decidedly small.

Try Plan Out First.

But the kernel of the whole business seems to me to be that to indorse Mr. Bryan's plan is to run contrary to every rule and law of common sense and ordinary business prudence and put our whole capital, so to speak, into something which has not been tried out first and about which no one knows anything from actual experience. If a farmer went ahead and put in his crops and kept his live stock on this principle he would be the laughing stock of the whole community.

Take the matter of wheat, for example: Some of the biggest papers in the United States have, for several months, been publishing columns of accounts of a wonderful new wheat which a man by the name of Adams found growing in a sheltered cove up in Alaska. He brought home one head of the wheat, so the story goes, and planted it. What was the result? Seven pounds of wheat from that one head!

From the pictures that head of wheat must have looked like one of the seed plumes which we see on sumac bushes. In telling about this wheat one big paper said that from the seven pounds were harvested 945 pounds "more than 225 bushels to the acre was the ratio of yield."

Claims Not Fulfilled.

When you consider that the world's average yield is 12.7 bushels to the acre, this Alaska wheat looked like something bigger than the biggest gold mine ever found in the world. The article in question showed that "had all America had Alaska wheat to seed this year the American crop alone would have been 5,000,000,000 bushels."

[illegible] article in its issue of August 15 printed an editorial in its issue of September 12 which contained a telegraphic report from a man sent out to sift the claims of this wonderful wheat right on the ground. Among other things this telegram contained these sentences:

"Assertions huge crops of flour making quality not justified. Adams' only claim of proportion of 100 bushels an acre is with an eighth of an acre patch two years ago. So far this year only 25 to 35 an acre. Flour making qualities unknown. The wheat in appearance is like certain large, coarse wheats, not valuable for flour."

Now, what would you have thought of a farmer who would have jumped up after reading that first article, thrown aside all of his standard blue stem or club or other tested and tried wheat and sowed his whole acreage to this new fangled Alaska stuff?

Common Sense Demands Test.

In plain words, you would have said: "A man who would do that has not sense enough to be called a farmer. All he has to do is to just wait a little and let the experiment station try it out first. If it is a good thing they will find it out for a certainty, and if it is not then no harm will be done to the country as a whole or to the private fortunes of the wheat growers. That is what experiment stations are for—to try it out first and save the people from making big mistakes."

Just so with this matter of guaranteeing bank deposits. There is an experiment station out west that we call Oklahoma—and it's a mighty good one, too. A few months ago the people of Oklahoma enacted a law compelling the state banks to chip in and make up a sort of insurance fund with which to guarantee the deposits in all the state banks.

That experiment has only just begun. Up to date they say it works fine, but right now they are just about at the place where this man Adams was when he planted his first head of wheat from Alaska and raised seven pounds of seed. I figure that guaranteed banking in Oklahoma is not a bit further on in the testing process than the Alaska wheat was when Adams had thrashed out his seven pounds of seed and figured that the ratio of yield was 225 bushels to the acre.

Don't Jump at Conclusions.

It looks to me as if it would be just as foolhardy for a man to vote for Mr. Bryan's guaranty plan as it would be for all the wheat farmers in the United States right now to put their entire acreage into Alaska wheat before it has been tested and found, in the first place, whether big acreages of it will yield any better than our standard brands now being generally planted, and, secondly, whether it will stand the test of actual milling and make flour that will make good bread and be commercially salable to the flour consumers of the whole country.

The guaranty plan now in operation down in Oklahoma has not reached even the big acreage test of yield, and it is a long way off from having come to the milling test. If after it has been tested to a finish it turns out to be a good thing then you may be sure that it will prevail; that the people of the whole country will want it and will get it.

On the other hand, it will be in plenty of time to put it into operation under a national law after the experiment station has made at least one complete test of it—and that test will not be finished until it has been demonstrated by the bankers in Oklahoma, operating under the law there, that they can, for one thing, handle the deposits which they get at a profit and make loans of the proper proportions of their deposits at the reasonable percentage of interest; and for another thing that they can stand the test of downright hard times and a genuine old-fashioned panic, when a whole lot of people are pounding at the doors of a lot of banks, all trying to draw out their money at the same time.

That is the only thing that will tell the story. A leaky roof does not make any particular trouble until the rain comes, but a good driving storm is the thing that will put a practical test to the roof over your heads.

Farmer Wants to Be Shown.

The practical farmer gets to be a little shy on things which have not been put through the experiment station and tried out there. He has heaps of propositions put up to him which look just as good as gold dollars, just as good as this "guarantee of deposits" scheme of Mr. Bryan's looks at first reading.

But after he's gone into experiment work on his own hook for a while he generally comes to the conclusion that, so long as there's an experiment station at hand, and willing to try the thing out at its own expense, there's nothing lost in getting the station to handle the experiments. He can do fairly well and stick to the things which have already been put through the test.

Common Oats Beat $2 Variety.

The other day I fell in with a man in one of the big cities who owns a grain farm up in the northwest. He's a wideawake fellow who doesn't want any good thing to get past him. Well, a man came to him with some seed oats which looked as clean and bright as a new dollar. They were of a new-fangled variety. The fellow declared they would yield double what any of the ordinary varieties would produce—100 bushels an acre or more.

The result was that the farmer decided, for once, at least, to pass up the experiment station and not to wait for them to try it out first. So he paid $2 a bushel for enough to sow a good big acreage. And what was the result? His yield was five to ten bushels an acre under that of his common oats, the kind he had been raising from year to year.

"No more experiments for me!" that man declared. "Next time I'm going to let the experiment station test things out for me. Meantime I'll let well enough alone and stick to standard oats. What's the use of taking big chances when some one else is willing to do that for you? After this I'm going to wait and see."

Chasing Baubles Foolish.

There's a man in New York state and another in St. Charles, Ill., who have become enthused about a breed of dairy cows which seem to have been originated in a back county of Ireland. These cows are called the Dexter Kerrys, and are only three or four feet high, built on the dachshund plan. If all the wonderful things told about this cow are true, the Guernsey, the Jersey and the dairy shorthorns will have to go way back into the back pastures and lie down.

It is claimed these little creeper cows will produce so much milk, so high a percentage of butter fat, on so small a ration of food, that the Guernseys, the Jerseys and the shorthorns are backed right off the dairy map. But, so far as is generally known, these Dexter-Kerrys haven't been tried out here in this country at all. If there's a herd or an individual specimen in any experiment station in this country the dairymen haven't heard of it.

Now wouldn't it be a bright idea for you, as a live and progressive farmer, to get rid of your Guernseys and shorthorns and send right over to Ireland for a drove of Dexter-Kerrys without waiting to see how an individual herd has panned out in this country for a year or two at least?

Why Experiment on Whole Nation?

That's just what Mr. Bryan and his party are asking you to do in urging you to vote the ticket on the ground of the plank declaring for guaranteed deposits. I can't see it in any other light. Why make the experiment on the whole banking system of the country when an experiment is already in progress in one state—an experiment which will demonstrate whether the principle of guaranteed banking is good or bad, sound or unsound, in actual practice?

That can't be determined in a minute or in a year. If it turns out well we'll all be for it; if it's like some of Mr. Bryan's other pet political novelties we'll be glad we waited for the experiment station to operate on it first and save the whole banking system from a general calamity.

Mr. Bryan seems to have a great liking for talking big things and brushing aside the precautionary steps of experiment which common prudence would suggest. His whole proposition reminds me of a homely little story. A boy came home with a new dog and said to his father:

"Dad, this dog's got the real stuff in him. I'll bet he can lick anything around here."

"He does look as if he could take care of himself," replied the father, who admired a plucky dog. "There's Jim Townley's Tige out in th' street now lookin' for a little trouble. Suppose we call him in an' see what this new pup of yours 'll do to him."

Bryan Demands Big Chance.

"Nope," promptly objected the boy, "he hain't big enough. We want to give him a big chance right at the start. You're a lot bigger'n Townley's Tige, dad, so you just drop on your hands and knees an' bark at my dog an' see what he'll do."

At last the father decided to humor the boy and give the dog "a big chance right at the start." He dropped upon "all fours" and pretended to growl. In a minute the pup's teeth were fastened into the father's shoulder.

"Take him off! Take him off!" shouted the father.

"Nope," again objected the boy. "Let him stick! It may hurt like sin, dad, but it'll be the makin's of the pup!"

So with the shouters for the guaranteed deposits plank. It may rip the shoulder right out of Uncle Sam—but never mind, so long as it looks as if it might be "the makin'" of Bryan. And how easy it would have been to have tried out the new pup on Jim Townley's Tige first.

Opens Way for Wildcat Banks.

Then there's another side to this bank guarantee scheme that never occurred to me until I met a retired farmer in town the other day.

"Yes," he said, "I'm going to vote the Democratic ticket this year all right. It's on account of that bank deposit guarantee plank. When they get that into a law I'm going to put it through." Now I figure that when they get this scheme actually working all banks 'll look alike to the man or woman with money to deposit, an' the fact that I don't know a dum thing about banking an' haint lived in this town but three years won't cut any figure with 'em so long's this guarantee is covering all deposits in all banks.

"Then I'll get enough money t'put my land scheme through—an' get it cheap, too! The only thing that bothers me is that there's at least three other men right here in town counting on doin' the same thing when we get the guarantee business goin'. They've all got schemes they want to finance, too!"

Plenty of Time for Test.

Of course, as I said at the start, there are some mighty catchy points about this new Bryan scheme but somehow I'm getting more and more willing to let them try it out first down in Oklahoma before saddling it on the back of every national bank in the country. It may prove out all right in the experiment station—but when it does that will be time enough for me to invest my whole voting capital in it! Plenty of time!

The following prescription for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles has no doubt been filled millions of times, viz: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumblerful of water after each dose. It is stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic afflictions relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings.

A well-known authority states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these spongelike organs and gives them power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood which is the cause of rheumatism.

If your back or sides ache and you suspect kidney trouble, it would be wise to try this for a few days.

TIGERS' SPIRIT IS AT A HIGH PITCH

MEN OUT YESTERDAY FOR HARD PRACTICE.

Injured Players Will Be Back in the Game by Saturday—La Junta Plays Terrors Here.

In spite of the opposition of the weather men, an enthusiastic squad of Tigers reported for practice on Washburn field yesterday afternoon. Of those who participated in Saturday's game, all were out in suits except G. Smith, who is still confined to his room as a result of a severe kick in the back. His injury is only temporarily, however, and he expects to get into the harness again before the team leaves for Texas. Steele and Vandemoer, who were both taken out of the game on account of injuries, are recovering rapidly, and although Vandemoer's broken nose will necessitate his wearing a special nose guard, Trainer Newhouse declares that he will be holding down end position in the next game. Coach Richards taught the men several new plays with which he expects to down the southerners. In spite of the bruises the team worked with spirit and by next Saturday the machine will be running smoothly and with speed. This afternoon the coach expects to [hold] a ten-minute scrimmage with the second team to keep the men in fighting trim, and a hard workout Wednesday will complete the work before the coming game with the University of Texas Saturday.

The second team is making strenuous efforts to get a game for Saturday, and hopes to be able to meet Sacred Heart college in Denver. A game with the Denver university second team is also talked of, but no definite plans have been made.

While the Tigers were making their meal of Utah, the High School Terrors were giving a good account of themselves at La Junta. Although they were a heavier team, the down-state lads were somewhat lacking in football knowledge and proved to be easy money. They play a return game on Washburn field next Saturday and expect to put up a different article of football. The local High School will be much weakened by the loss of Cheese, star halfback and punter, who will be out of the game for a week or two nursing a ruptured blood vessel in his right elbow.

WRIGHT ATTACKS BRYAN

Commoner Severely Arraigned by New War Secretary.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Seldom has W. J. Bryan been so severely arraigned during the present campaign as he was here tonight by General Luke E. Wright, secretary of war, who addressed a large mass meeting at Terrace Garden.

General Wright, who was introduced as "a Democrat having the honor of holding a cabinet position under a Republican administration," was greeted with enthusiastic cheering when he appeared on the platform.

The speaker entered vigorously into the principal issues of the campaign, condemning Bryan in sharp terms for the latter's reference in a speech recently to President Roosevelt as "the hired man."

General Wright said that such statements "tickled the groundlings" but made the judicious grieve."

He then outlined the powers of the President in an endeavor to show that the President is not a hired man, but "the chief ruler of the people."

$10,000 FOR SUFFRAGE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The problem of financing work of the American Women's Suffrage association cropped out today, and for a time clogged the smooth-running machinery of their convention. The question first came up in executive session, where it is said President Anna P. Shaw talked to the delegates in no uncertain way as to their failure to provide the national organization with the means to carry on its work. It was finally decided to make an effort at the afternoon session to raise at least $5,000 by voluntary subscription. The contributions had reached $2,350, when a messenger handed President Shaw a letter from Mrs. Catherine B. Lewis of Buffalo, inclosing a check for $10,000.

Pope defined party feeling as "the madness of the many for the gain of the few." The worst failures of government in America have been connected with worship of the party label. In emancipation from this stupidity the Northwest is leading, but the signs become more favorable everywhere. The free man on November 3 will be the man who votes from judgment and ceases to be used as any party's rubber stamp. Political freedom has made most of its recent gains west of the Alleghanies. Colby showed the other day in New Jersey, and the nomination of Hughes showed in New York that the machines are not all-powerful, even in the East.—Collier's Weekly.

HAMLIN THE DISORGANIZER.

WE wonder if it has ever occurred to Mr. C. C. Hamlin, his supporters, and his newspaper, that the real disorganizer of the Republican party in this county is none other than himself. The Telegraph has been throwing fits every day for the last two weeks over the alleged danger in which the independent movement has placed the Republican national and state tickets; and, of course, blames the Independent Republicans who have refused to submit to the dictation of a petty little bossling.

We do not believe that the insurrection against Hamlin and Hamlinism will affect the loyalty of El Paso County Republicans to their national and state tickets in the slightest degree, for, contrary to The Telegraph's opinion, they have enough intelligence to scratch a ticket. This county is not populated by ignorant foreign laborers; on the contrary we have an exceptionally intelligent class of people, and they are not so stupid that it is necessary for them to vote a straight party ticket in order to mark their ballots correctly.

But aside from this consideration there is no disguising the fact that the Republican party of El Paso County is hopelessly split. The regular organization is in worse condition than it has ever been before. Only self-interest holds it together. There is no spirit of loyalty except such as is based on hope of personal reward. Hamlin, leader of the party, fondly hugs to his breast the delusion that he is a really and truly candidate for the United States Senate. Without exception his confidential advisers and active organizers are either salaried employes on his personal pay-roll, or aspirants to office whose only hope of success lies in the triumph of their ticket next month.

EACH HAS AN AXE TO GRIND. Ralph Bradfield, nominally Hamlin's campaign manager, but really the tail that wags the Hamlin dog, is in both classes; for he is slated to be Undersheriff in the event of Birdsall's election. Schreiber, who also sits close to the throne, is a candidate for Assessor. Schisler and Hill, both active workers, are respectively County Clerk and Deputy County Clerk, and both hope to retain their jobs. And so on down the line. There is not a man in any way prominent in the support of Mr. Hamlin's cause but has an axe to grind, and all of them are grinding as hard as they can. The organization is held together solely and simply by the big money in sight and the hope of profitable jobs in the near future.

Not only has the active working organization been reduced to this list of hungry free-booters, but the great mass of voters has been alienated. This is a comparatively recent development. It has come about entirely since Mr. Hamlin injected his Senatorial candidacy into local politics, and by the lavish distribution of his dollars forced it on the people as the one absorbing issue of the campaign.

Let no voter lose sight of that fact for an instant. It was Clarence C. Hamlin and his methods that rent the Republican party of El Paso County and transformed it from a victorious and united body into two factions, the one striving to perpetuate Hamlin's control of the organization and carry forward his policy of ruin, and the other fighting vigorously to redeem the party from the chaos into which he has plunged it.

BEGINNING OF THE BREACH. One need not have a long memory to realize the truth of these assertions. Less than a year ago the Republican party of El Paso county was united. This was the banner Republican county of the state, and more than once it had saved the state ticket from defeat. Then came Mr. Hamlin. With unexampled freedom and success ... successful purchase of a seat in the United States Senate, he decided that now was his opportunity to take the trick. Having influential connections with the Mill Trust it was easy for him to secure the backing of Guggenheim and the Smelter Trust. This done, Mr. Hamlin was ready to demonstrate the power of the dollar to the complete satisfaction of all beholders.

This was the beginning of the breach in the Republican party of El Paso County—a breach that will not be healed until after the complete elimination of this dollar mark politician and his ridiculous Senatorial boomlet. Republican voters objected to the application of Addicks' methods to local affairs. As the primary campaign advanced last Spring this objection became more pronounced the more fully these methods were understood, and if the primaries had been in any sense fair—if the "slush" fund and the wholesale voting of Democrats had been eliminated—Hamlin would have been defeated by an overwhelming majority. But he won on the face of the returns, and his leadership became an acknowledged fact.

A WEAK AND INCAPABLE LEADER. Since then he has displayed the most startling incapacity for leadership ever shown by any man in his position in this county.

It is perfectly safe to say that he has not won a single new friend since the primaries, and it is even more certain that he has alienated scores, even hundreds of the friends who stood by him in that contest. He has been at all times weak and vacillating, lacking the strength to control his own organization, to compel even the men who are on his personal pay-roll to obey his wishes. He has permitted his machine to run away from him, and now, two weeks before the election which is to seal his fate, he stands like a frightened engineer, who, having lost control of his locomotive, does not know which lever to throw to stop its mad flight.

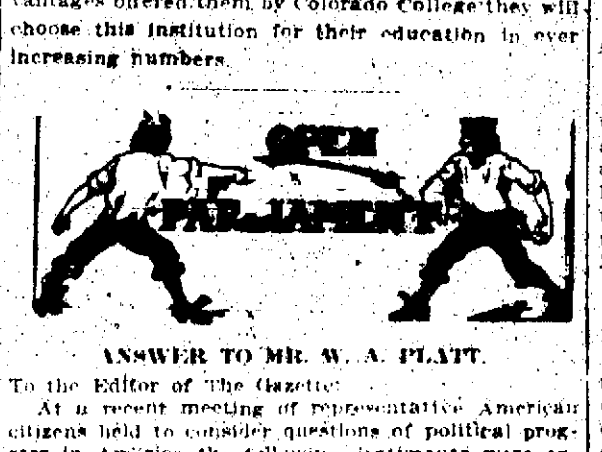

Friends and supporters gone, an overwhelming majority of his party in open rebellion, surrounded only by a few adherents who were PAID to support him and who even then secretly ridicule his incapacity for leadership, Mr. Hamlin is indeed a pitiable spectacle. His little whirl in politics has been brief, but it has been tremendously exciting. From beginning to end it will have lasted only eight months, but when the smoke clears away on the morning of November 4 he will have the satisfaction of contemplating the most complete wreck of a once united and victorious party ever seen in this county. We hope he will be proud of his work, for when a man strives so earnestly and at such heavy expense to attain an object, even though it be a job of party-wrecking, he is at least entitled to the pleasure of being satisfied when success crowns the end. Of course, there will be a big drop of bitterness in his cup, for the defeat of the Republican county and legislative ticket will mean the end of the Hamlin Senatorial candidacy, but this is a matter of small concern to the public compared with the benefits that will be gained by the reorganization of the Republican party in El Paso County after November 3.

SOUTHERN STUDENTS AT THE COLLEGE.

FROM Colorado College comes the report that the number of Southern students entering college is increasing each year. This is a new development, but one which is as natural as it is desirable, and the enrollment of Southern students in our College may, from now on, be expected to increase with each year, for the institution offers unsurpassed advantages to these students who desire to secure a thorough education in the most attractive surroundings the country affords.

The most important factor, of course, is the fact that President Slocum and his associates in the board of trustees and the faculty have built up in this city an institution which is everywhere recognized as the equal of colleges in the East, both in the strength of its faculty and in the standards of scholarship which it maintains. And this institution is within comparatively easy reach for the Southern student, for Colorado Springs lies farther south than the city of Washington.

Here, too, the student can spend a full year in study unhampered by the enervating Southern climate, and at the same time free himself from the ever-present malaria which is the bane of the South. The mountains of Colorado have already become to the South and West what the mountains of New Hampshire and Vermont are to the East, what the mountains of Switzerland are to Europe, and as the young people of the South and Southwest who visit Colorado Springs for an outing during the summer become acquainted with the many advantages offered them by Colorado College they will choose this institution for their education in ever increasing numbers.

ANSWER TO MR. W. A. PLATT.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

At a recent meeting of representative American citizens held to consider questions of political progress in America the following sentiments were expressed by Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo, on the voting of a straight "party ticket."

This is so direct an answer to W. A. Platt of Denver, who, by his own admission, has "consistently" voted the party ticket for 32 years, that we ask permission to quote it through your columns.

The writer knows many "consistent" party men, who will this year show their ability to discriminate between a REAL Republican and a sham Republican by scratching the ticket, and we are more than ever convinced that this independent movement has been and will continue to be of incalculable benefit to our ... of El Paso County, in giving them the opportunity to register the fact at the polls that the PEOPLE ARE STILL SOVEREIGN!

Mr. Whitlock says:

"If I were asked to pick out and designate the man who is responsible for the ills of our cities, the man who is responsible for the political ills which require our greatest effort to correct, I would designate, NOT the ..., not the politician, not the lobbyist, but instead, the man who in local elections always votes the straight party ticket! There are large numbers of such men in every city in the land, and one of them is typical of all.

It can be said of these men that they are for the most part, decent, respectable citizens who do their duty by their families, their business associates and their church. In national affairs they have certain principles and they vote them. They are very proud of voting the straight ticket, and of having voted it since they were 21, and of their firm determination to vote it as long as life shall last, and the central committee sends around the hack on election day as if it were a cardinal virtue entitling them to general consideration and respect, and they actually think, no doubt that by voting the straight ticket they do their duty by their nation, by their state and by their city.

You will hear them speak of their party devoutly; it means more to them than the community in which they live. They are tremendously concerned about something they call "party regularity;" they have indeed a phraseology or cant talk of their own; they speak of "party fealty," "party allegiance" and then of "party sedition" and "party treason." These party men TALK politics half the time, but the trouble is they do not THINK politics.

They talk of "throwing away votes" or of "losing votes" as if to win one must always be with the winning side, as if ballots, even though there be but one in a million, do not count when cast for principle alone! America is, or was intended to be, and some day will be, a democracy. A democracy means the whole of the people, not a part of them; a democracy means free men, not owned men.

To the "party" man the party is of primary and paramount importance, the principle is secondary. The party has ceased to be a means, a mere vehicle to carry onward principle, and has become an end in itself. The party man has lost sight completely of his town, of his county; he thinks only of his party and his duty toward it, and he feels that he has discharged that duty, and his whole duty, if he is, as he loves to say, loyal to that party; that is, if he votes his party ticket. And thus he feels that by belonging to a party he is patriotic, just as some men think that by belonging to a church they are religious. And so he enters the state of the crystallized mind; the form is everything, the spirit is nothing. Progress stops."

What Mr. Platt will do when we adopt the real Australian ballot in Colorado, upon which there is no chance to vote a "straight ticket," we do not know. There is a new spirit abroad. The young civilian sees that this stupid superstition of "party" has enabled BOSSES to build up large machines; inevitably and logically these machines unite and become one machine, a bi-partisan machine. The boss of the dominant party makes "arrangements" with the boss of the minority party, and thereafter the big boss dictates not only the nominations of his own party but those of the opposing party as well, and thus government passes from the people. We see this NOW in El Paso county, and we shall leave the space at the top of the ticket BLANK and mark (X) after the names of the candidates we want to vote for.

Henry Barth, a farmer, living four miles north of town, exhibited here Saturday the head of a gray squirrel which had grown a tusk two inches long, curving up from the lower jaw. It resembled the horn of a ram, or goat, and had approached so near the right eye that the squirrel must have perished from it ere long, but for the intervention of Mr. Barth's shotgun.

From the Sumner (Mo.) Star.

John Grime came to town one day last week to meet his wife, who was expected to arrive here that day from a visit to relatives in Ohio. Her trunk came, but she came not. John got a letter, however, explaining that her return ticket was locked up in the trunk. He got out the ticket and mailed it to her. We don't know whether the joke is on Mrs. Grime or on John, as he was getting thin as a rail eating his own cooking, and had fasted a couple of days in anticipation of filling up on some of his wife's good biscuits and fried chicken.

From the Tyler (Texas) Courier.

In Tyler four-legged dogs attend church in great numbers and the owners think it is right cute in their dogs to do so. They fight, howl and bark at intervals during the services for the men and women.

CASTRO FORCED TO FIGHT DUTCH

greater portion of the people are in ignorance of the impending crisis. Those who do know about it don't care. They are too hungry.

The Dutch demand which may precipitate war is that Venezuela revoke the decree of May 14 1908, which forbids the trans-shipment of Venezuelan cargoes at the port of Willemstad on the Dutch island of Curacao. That decree has resulted in the total stagnation of the business of Curacao, and the Dutch colonials are literally starving to death. A review of the incidents of the quarrel between Venezuela and The Netherlands is necessary to a clean understanding of the situation in the present crisis.

Criticism of Castro.

The Dutch government was represented in Caracas by Minister J. H. De Reus until the rupture of diplomatic relations on July 20, this year. On April 9 Minister De Reus wrote a letter to a commercial organization in Amsterdam, the "Hou en Trouw," which was published in the May bulletin of the organization. This letter reflected upon the honor of the Venezuelan nation and was particularly severe in its criticism of President Castro. The publication did not reach the eyes of the Venezuelan authorities until July 19. On the next day President Castro sent passports to Mr. De Reus with a note informing him that he was persona non grata to the Venezuelan government by reason of the publication of the letter written to Amsterdam. At the same time a note was addressed to the Dutch minister of foreign affairs saying that Venezuela considered the breach of international courtesy on the part of Mr. De Reus as a personal matter, and expressing the hope that the relations between the governments might not be disturbed by the incident. Mr. De Reus refused to transmit the letter himself, and it was later forwarded directly to The Hague.

Five days later a Dutch man-of-war, the Gelderland, entered the Venezuelan harbor of Puerto Cabello. Salutes were not exchanged between the ship and the land forts. On the next day the Gelderland anchored at La Guayra to receive Mr. De Reus. The ship did not salute the Venezuelan flag, but did fire a salute of seven guns in honor of the Dutch consul, who came out in a small boat. The Gelderland refused to permit the harbor and port authorities to come on board the vessel, but received Mr. De Reus and departed for Curacao.

Insult to Venezuela.

In the meantime, on the same Saturday and Sunday that the Gelderland had failed to salute the Venezuelan flag at Puerto Cabello and La Guayra, a Dutch mob in Willemstad had been offering a concrete insult to Venezuela by attacking the consulate at that place. An article denouncing the people of Curacao as pirates had appeared in a newspaper at Puerto Cabello, over the signature of one Oranko, a Venezuelan who lives in Curacao. A mob visited his home, forced his wife to play the Dutch national air on the piano and asked him to retract his article. Whether truthfully or not, but evidently under duress, Oranko declared that he had not written the article, but had only signed what had been written by the Venezuelan consul, Roberto Lopez.

Whereupon the mob, consisting of several hundred men who were starving because the action of the Venezuelan government had deprived them of work, went to the consulate and demanded that Lopez leave the country. The shield was defaced and every insult short of bodily harm was offered the frightened Lopez. The next morning the American ship Maracaibo was leaving for Venezuela. Lopez was protected by a guard of Dutch soldiers and was taken aboard the American vessel, amid a chorus of hoots and curses from the mob of unemployed negroes on the docks.

All Relations Severed.

The next day Lopez was in Caracas and made a report of the way he had been treated. Thereupon, the Venezuelan government withdrew the exequatur of all Dutch consuls in Venezuela, and sent to the Dutch government a notice that all relations had been severed. As there is no Venezuelan consul in Curacao and no Dutch consul in Venezuela, movement of shipping between Willemstad and all Venezuelan ports is absolutely suspended, the only communication being by the ships of the American Red "D" line, which make Willemstad as a port of call, and which are cleared by the American consul.

On August 1, three days after the rupture of all relations between the governments, the Dutch man-of-war Gelderland returned to La Guayra for the purpose of conveying a communication to the Venezuelan government. The call was hardly a pleasant one. The Dutch ship was cleared for action and the guns of the La Guayra forts were trained on the ship. The harbor master came to the ship and was told that the captain of the ship had a letter to the Venezuelan government which he wished to deliver. The harbor master declared that he could not accept it, but that he would send out a postoffice boat to receive it. He returned to shore and the Dutch waited for the postal boat.

Letter Was Refused.

After six hours of waiting the Dutch launched a boat to take the letter ashore. At the same time a boat put off from shore, whereupon the Dutch captain thought the postal boat was coming at last, so he called his boat back. When he did so, the Venezuelan boat also turned around and went to the shore. Again the Dutch captain sent off a boat, and at the same time a boat put off from the dock. They met midway and the Dutch were informed by the harbor master that they would not be permitted to hold any communication with the shore. The Dutch officer attempted to force the letter into the hands of the Venezuelan officer, but it was refused.

The Dutch note was then sent by ordinary mail to Caracas to Baron Seckendorff, the German minister, who is in charge of Dutch interests in Venezuela. This note demanded an apology for the manner in which passports were sent to Minister DeReus, although admitting the impropriety of DeReus' action in writing the Amsterdam letter. The Venezuelan government in reply cited the insult to the consul at Willemstad and the refusal of the Dutch ship to salute the Venezuelan flag, demanding apologies.

This was followed by the second Dutch note, the ultimatum, which demanded a promise to rescind the trans-shipment decree forthwith, and exacting that the actual revocation of the decree be made not later than November 1. This note also went into all the other features of the quarrel; admitting DeReus' fault but protesting against the manner in which the Venezuelan government dismissed him; asserting that the Gelderland had saluted the forts of Puerto Cabello and La Guayra within the year and that custom did not demand a salute oftener than once in twelve months from the same ship; and offsetting the affair of the attack on the Venezuelan consulate at Willemstad by charges against the consul. But the main feature of the note is the demand for the revocation of the decree of May 14, which prohibits trans-shipment at Curacao.

No Concessions Will Be Made.

Venezuela has no cable connection, and the fact that an ultimatum had been sent to Castro fixing November 1 as the final date for action was known all over the civilized world three weeks before it was known in Caracas. When it did reach the Venezuelan capital, President Castro was very ill and it was not presented to him for several days. When he did see it, being still cross and irritable from his illness, he told his minister to tell the Dutch to "go to." But the formal answer to the note was delayed, although it is certain that Castro will not make any concessions.

In the meantime, traffic between Curacao and Venezuela is stopped entirely. A Dutch schooner loaded with wood owned by a Dutchman is held at Maracaibo and cannot be released because there is no Dutch consul. The Venezuelan government went through the form of raising the embargo on passengers from Curacao to Venezuela, but as there is no Venezuelan consul in Curacao to vise passports according to Venezuelan regulations, the embargo is practically still in effect.

The only exceptions made were in the cases of seven Venezuelans who were permitted to go to La Guayra on an American ship by special permission of President Castro.

These are the things which have led up to the present situation, in which the Dutch are relying on the guns of six men-of-war and the Venezuelans are relying on Castro's Star of Destiny, and the Krupp guns of the coast fortifications, and the natural defenses of mountain fastnesses.

LIQUOR LICENSES ARE SIDETRACKED

CITY WILL LOSE $650 AS A RESULT.

No Explanation Is Offered—Council Talks Much, but Does Little Business.

It was the City Council's bilious night at its regular meeting last night, and there was something wrong with almost every proposition that came up. The applications of 17 drug stores for liquor licenses were shelved for two weeks without a word of discussion, and thereby the city will lose over $650, as the licenses expire tonight at 12 o'clock. The Council also discussed the proposed public comfort station, but could not see its way clear to "waste" $300 on plans. It also turned down Holden's proposition to test the arc lights in the streets for the same economical reasons, the estimated cost of $100 being the bone of contention. Neither could the aldermen entertain the idea of spending even a dollar on the removal of leaves from the city streets, but left it, as Mayor Hetzer suggested, for "another good wind such as that of yesterday to do the work." Likewise, the plans for the fourth fire station to be erected on the east side had to be held up on account of lack of money.

No Funds for Fire Station.

The question of the new fire station was brought sharply to the attention of the aldermen by a letter from the secretary of the Insurance Agents association of this city urging immediate action, as the fire insurance policies have been issued on the basis of four fire stations. The matter was discussed for some time, but the Council took no action because there is no money available for the new building. It was finally decided to have preliminary plans prepared by the fire committee for submission to the Council at an early date.

F. D. Hahnenkratt applied for the exclusive right to fish in all waters belonging to the city, including Prospect lake, and offered to pay a reasonable sum for the privilege. The proposition was promptly turned down.

John Hill submitted for inspection preliminary plans for the public comfort station to be built at the corner of Pikes Peak and Nevada avenues at a maximum cost of $6,000. The plans prepared are for an artistic and thoroughly up-to-date station, but some of the aldermen wanted other plans submitted for a cheaper and equally efficient station.

May Test Arc Lights.

The question of having the street arc lights tested by experts so as to have a check on the load sheets submitted monthly by the Electric company was brought up by Holden, who said that the tests would not cost more than $100. The question was asked if the load sheets were sworn to by an official of the company, but no one seemed to know, and after much haggling, it was finally decided that Professor Armstrong of Colorado College and City Electrician Ford should be asked to meet the aldermen in committee of the whole, so that the matter might be discussed more intelligently.

When the question of granting the liquor licenses came up and the first one was read, a dead silence fell upon the Council for the space of several minutes. Albin finally moved that the license be granted, but there was no second, and a moment later Frost made a motion to adjourn without a word of discussion, John Hill alone voting in the negative. No reason could be learned for the lack of action, each alderman claiming that he knew of no reason why the licenses should not be granted, the only one offering a solution at all being Frost, who thought it might be a scheme of the Republican majority to take the life out of the Democratic rallies that may be held between now and election day. It is known, however, that the refusal to grant the licenses was not based on any report or recommendation from the police department, as the report for September from Chief W. S. Reynolds showed practically a "clean" sheet for the drug stores.

VETERANS SPEAK ON POLITICAL ISSUES

NATIONAL AND STATE QUESTIONS DISCUSSED.

Colonel Ferguson, Chaplain S. P. Smith and State Senator A. V. Bohn Address Old Soldiers.

The veterans of Colorado Springs were addressed in the court house last night by three representatives of the Republican Veterans' association of Colorado, who talked on state and national issues. L. Ittner, president of the Colorado Springs branch of the state association, presided. The speakers were Colonel W. W. Ferguson and Chaplain S. P. Smith, both of Denver, and State Senator A. V. Bohn of Leadville. Owing to the fact that the meeting had first been announced for tonight and the date later changed to last night, a comparatively small crowd was present.

Colonel Ferguson was the first speaker. He said that every candidate of the Republican state ticket is approved by the executive committee of the Veterans association, and explained that this committee had refused approval to any candidate for a state office who did not ... veterans. He said ... positions by the Republican ... state ticket is elected, and that ... good for the largest number ... association as a body.

He reviewed the ... association. It was formed in ... 1886, to aid the Republican organization in Colorado, since politics is eschewed by the G. A. R. The speaker referred to the prosperity and peace which has resulted from Republican administration, and reviewed Roosevelt's splendid work. Judge Taft was referred to as the man who, as first governor of the Philippines, as converter of the Panama canal zone from a death trap to a healthy country, and as secretary of war, is eminently fitted to carry on the Roosevelt policies.

The friendliness of the national Republican party, and the corresponding conflict of the Democrats to the Civil war veterans as shown in the vote in Congress on pension bills at various times was spoken of by Colonel Ferguson.

National Issues.

S. P. Smith of Denver, aged ... the ... member of the Veterans State association, talked on national issues. He quoted the London Times as saying that Roosevelt will come to be recognized in the United States as second in greatness only to Abraham Lincoln. He mentioned Roosevelt's fight on the ... trusts, and said that the Standard Oil company would doubtless give millions of dollars to put in Roosevelt's place the man who is trying to ride the man to the White House. ... Closing his address in a tone of benediction, Chaplain Smith urged his auditors to go through life joyously and to do all the good they can. He said: "If we can do no more good than bring a smile to the ... with every ... still we are doing good."

A. V. Bohn of Leadville, state senator, spoke of the principles of the Republican party, and especially with regard to its principles of freedom, which began with the abolition of slavery.

WRECK VICTIMS IMPROVING

Injured Rock Island Trainmen Will Recover, Say Physicians in Attendance.

Hope is held out by attending surgeons at St. Francis hospital for the recovery of all the victims of the Rock Island wreck, near Ramah last Sunday. The injured men rested as easily as could be expected yesterday, and unless complications develop it is believed they have a fair chance to recover.

There was some improvement last night in the condition of Frank Bishop, engineer of the freight train, who was injured the most seriously. He is suffering from a broken arm and leg, and face and scalp wounds.

William Kline, engineer on the passenger train, is improving slowly. He is suffering from internal injuries and severe burns about the face and head.

Clarence Williams, fireman on the passenger train, was considerably better last night. He has severe burns about the face and upper part of the body and internal injuries.

G. S. Hendy, mail clerk, has left the hospital. Although severely cut on the arm, his condition is not serious.

FROM CONVICT TO PREACHER

The Rev. Rudolph Kunasz to Speak Here Tomorrow.

From a prison cell to the sacred precincts of the church; from a convict expiating his crime, to a minister of the gospel teaching the precepts of the Master, are transformations marking the dominant chapter in the career of the Rev. Rudolph Kunasz, who will preach at the South Methodist church tomorrow evening.

Cast into the streets when a mere slip of a boy, he was left alone in the world, an orphan. Kunasz fell in with criminals, and after a checkered career in South America, England and the United States, spent five years in different prisons. Then he consecrated his life to Christianity.

The Rev. Mr. Kunasz is a former student of the Moody Bible institute, and last winter was assistant pastor of the Second Baptist church of Chicago. He has been recommended to the local Y. M. C. A. and other religious institutions of the city by Dr. William Evans, pastor of the Wheaton College church and professor of Moody Bible Institute. His remarkable testimony converted thousands in Chicago. Dr. A. E. Dixon, upon hearing him, said: "He has testimony to the saving power of the grace of God which can not fail to do good wherever he may speak."

WITKIND RETURNS FROM INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON TUBERCULOSIS

Maurice G. Witkind, business manager of Cragmor sanitorium, has just returned from the east, where he has been representing Cragmor at the International Congress on Tuberculosis, held at Washington, D. C. While east he visited many of the large sanatoriums, studying of each place the various diets and menus and the general order of things. He brings back with him many ideas which he proposes to put into execution towards the improvement and betterment of Cragmor. "If it is at all possible to improve on the table (for Cragmor has always been known to set the table with the best possible food procurable) it is his intention to do so. 'The sight of the mountains is much more preferable to me than the sight of skyscrapers,'" was the remark he made on arrival here.

What Press Agents Say

The E. Fike's New Show

The new vaudeville show which opened at the Empire yesterday deservingly drew crowded houses at all performances and bids fair to become a very popular one. The initial number on the program is a motion picture, "The Rag-picker's Daughter," with a very thrilling story attached. Carl Herbert, "the man of mystery," follows with exhibitions in magic and sleight of hand. He mysteriously brings to light all sorts of things, from flowers to guinea pigs and chickens, and must be credited with being very clever in the manipulation of the Chinese rings. The wizard's act was greatly appreciated.

Calamge and Figg, "Roosevelt and Rough Rider," are screamingly funny in their comedy turn. Mr. Figg's impersonation of the President in his rough rider days is strikingly like him, while Mr. Calamge is a real funny German comedian who can make you laugh whether you want to or not. Both are possessed with good singing voices which they use to good advantage.

Miss Barackman is pleasing in her song, "When the Frost Is on the Flowers," with pictures that are better than usual, followed by Polk and Polk, the headline attraction, in their novel pot spring board acrobatic work. They accomplish seemingly impossible feats with perfect ease and grace and in such rapid succession one's breath is almost taken away. There is not one moment of inactivity in the entire act and it calls for a continuous round of applause. Nothing like Polk and Polk has ever been seen upon the Empire stage and they should be a very good drawing card for the theater this week.

The program is brought to a close by an extraordinarily good motion picture, "The Baseball Fan," very interesting and laugh-provoking.

A souvenir matinee will be given tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and all the lady patrons will be presented with a handsome souvenir in the way of a Japanese teapot.

POLK & POLK,
The Spring Board Acrobats at the Empire Theater.

BAILEY AND AUSTIN
With "Top o' th' World," Coming Here Soon.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" COMING.

Leon W. Washburn with Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, will play an engagement at the Opera house Saturday matinee and night, when patrons of that house will see this time-honored play in all its superior attractiveness. "Uncle Tom," the hero of this purposeful story, is portrayed by A. T. McQuinder, Stetson's original "Uncle Tom," probably the best known impersonator of this celebrated character in the world. The work of competent players is further enhanced by beautiful stage settings and new electrical devices. Col. Sawyer's celebrated pack of Siberian bloodhounds is one of the features with this company, as well as the prize Shetland ponies. New and novel specialties are introduced.

"THE TOP O' TH' WORLD" COMING.

In "The Top o' th' World" Kathleen Clifford is just a little girl who wants to grow up—though you don't want anything of the sort. You want her just as she is laughing and singing and dancing like a child, without the slightest sign of self-consciousness. There is, in fact, a childish simplicity about everything in "The Top o' th' World." It is an unspoiled thing which makes no false pretense. The music by Maurice Kleine and Arno Caldwell never stops dancing. They have merry tunes and many tunes at "The Top o' th' World." So many vaudeville "teams" have tried to be what Montgomery and Stone used to be, that we were almost sorry they ever were; but Bailey and Austin are such honest, clever thieves that one cannot help liking them.

"The Top o' th' World" to-morrow, Kiddies! You're not going to have a Merry Christmas while "The Top o' th' World" is in town.—Charles Barton in the Evening World. "The Top o' th' World" comes here October 27.

"NANA" SOON TO DEPART

Nothing has ever captivated the intellectual and art-loving sections of this city as the famous painting Nana, which is now nearing the end of its successful engagement at 8 East Pikes Peak avenue. Great pictures are like great strains of music; they haunt the memory through all future years, and so Nana will long be remembered as one of the most strangely beautiful and most magnetic things ever put on canvas, in fact, so fascinating and so beautiful is Nana that an observer is deluded into the belief that he sees before him in all her charm and beauty the living creation of a poet's dream, the "Favored of the Gods." Nana will remain on exhibition until Saturday, so those who contemplate seeing what the entire art critics of Europe and America have been pleased to acknowledge as the most life-like representation of female loveliness ever placed on canvas, must lose no time in doing so. Nana can be seen daily until Saturday, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

"MIKADO" AND "ROMEO AND JULIET" AT FAIRYLAND

The management has been fortunate in securing an exceptionally fine program, beginning today. The second act of "Mikado" is something well worth seeing, as it is a musical comedy of rare merit. There are several popular selections, well rendered, and the play is made up by a select group of people, over 30 in number. The words and music are clear and distinct at Fairyland and so much more readily understood than at the Opera House because the room is so much better adapted for the purpose.

"Romeo and Juliet" is the feature film to go with "Mikado," and to say that this is something elegant is expressing it mildly, and should pack Fairyland at every performance.

This film gives a reproduction of Shakespeare's famous play of the same name. The picture was taken direct from the stage as the play was in progress. The stage settings are the very finest, the costumes of the characters are elegant and the company a [illegible] Cameraphone at Fairyland this week will be to have seen a complete production of "Romeo and Juliet."

"The Barbarous Father" is a film that will appeal to all classes.

"The Hand of Fate" is a military film, showing how God might and does punish the wicked.

CIVIL SERVICE NOT FAVORED BY BRYAN

WOULD DESTROY OUR SLOWLY-ACHIEVED REFORM.

Expresses His Ideas Fully in Book, "The First Battle"—Rotation in Office Four-Year Terms.

Bryan's plan to destroy civil service:

Rotation in office.

Four-year terms.

Appointments in states in ratio of population.

Appointments to political parties in ratio of voting strength.

If by any chance Mr. Bryan should become president and have his own way, all our slowly-achieved reform of the civil service would go a glimmering.

While the Democratic platform pledges "honest and rigid enforcement of the civil service laws," it does not commit the Democrats against these laws to conform to Mr. Bryan's publicly-expressed views which are in direct conflict with all ideas of civil service reform. When Mr. Bryan first began to run for the presidency he had a confusing civil service plank in his platform which he was called on to explain and in the explanation he gives in detail what kind of a civil service he would like to have installed. In this, as in his 16 to 1 free coinage scheme, and in his 50 per cent trust remedy, he likewise bases his proposal upon a mathematical ratio to divide all federal appointments between the political parties by states and also according to relative party strength in the respective states. More than that, he would entirely destroy tenure of office during good behavior and efficiency, and turn out of doors every government employe every four years. Here are Mr. Bryan's ideas on civil service, taken from his book, "The First Battle," to which, as far as anyone knows, he still adheres:

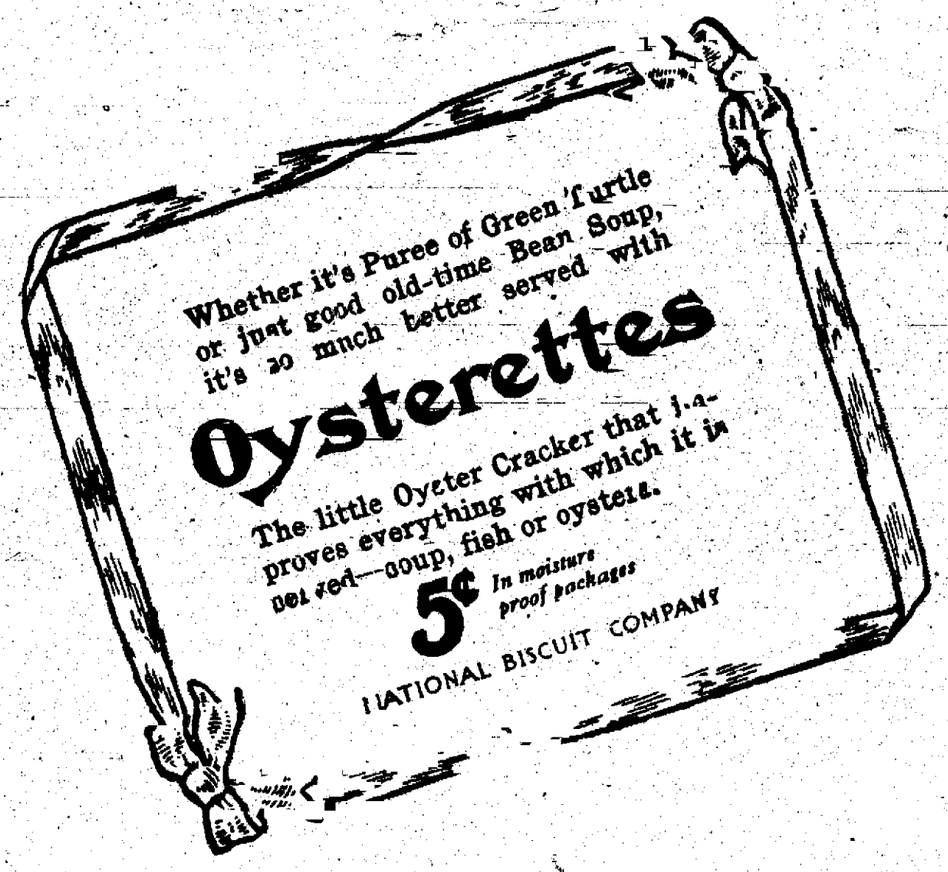

Doesn't Believe in Life Tenure.

"I do not believe that life tenure is, as a rule, a wise thing in a government like ours. As suggested in my letter of acceptance, the fact that the people make frequent changes in their public officials in case of elective offices is conclusive proof that life tenure is not popular. If they desired to have their public servants hold office for life they would manifest that desire by keeping elective officials in office permanently. As long as human nature remains as it is, it will not be safe to place public officials in a position where they are entirely independent of those whom they are to serve. The man who is permanently provided for, no matter what changes may take place in politics, is apt to become indifferent to public questions and be concerned only in the size and continuance of his salary. I do not mean to say that this is always the case, but it is apt to be the case. It may be laid down as a sound proposition that, in a republic, no system is wise which tends to discourage a lively interest in all matters which concern the government. The best way to compel people to scrutinize the acts of public officials is to leave them in a position where they will suffer from their own indifference. Rotation in office does not, however, mean that all public officials must necessarily change with each change of administration. Everyone who has served in Congress will appreciate the embarrassment which would follow if members of Congress were compelled to look after appointments in all the departments of the federal government. Not only would it be embarrassing, but the member of Congress is not in a position to sit as an impartial judge and decide the relative merits of those who ask his indorsement. Without entering into details, I suggest that it is possible to place the civil service upon a substantial foundation by providing a fixed term for appointments—with the possibility of one reappointment in case of special merit—the appointments to be divided among all political parties in proportion to their political strength, and among the states in proportion to their population. In this way a person entering the service would know that by efficiency he could secure a second term, and, knowing that his service would end at the close of the second term, would make arrangements for the future. At present, a clerk when discharged without warning is often left in a position of financial embarrassment. That, too, when each party has its proportionate representation in the civil service, there will be no disposition to violate the spirit of the law, as both parties have done under the present system. Until each party is given its share of the offices, the successful party will be tempted to secure places for as many of its members as possible. Then, too, appointment for a fixed term places the appointee in a position of political independence, where he is not required to surrender his convictions to retain his position. I need hardly add that the examination should be such as to test the fitness of the candidate for the work to be done, and not to determine his knowledge upon other subjects. Appointments for a fixed term, made after suitable examination and in proportion to the voting strength of the respective parties, would, in my judgment, give an efficient administration of the public service, provide against the dangers which flow from life tenure, remove the question from the domain of partisan politics and guarantee political independence to subordinate officials."

Deliberate Judgment.

"It should be remembered that this is not the outburst of a moment, or a part of an extemporaneous speech, but is Mr. Bryan's carefully-concocted and deliberate recorded judgment embodied in his book, written at his leisure after the heat of the campaign had passed.

Mr. Bryan's plan to destroy civil service should be connected up with his declaration for government ownership of railroads. Just imagine the government acquiring and running the railroads of the country under this plan of employing railroad officers, clerks and operatives. Suppose every railroad conductor and every locomotive engineer should have a four-year job and then be dislodged, where could the government get men to take their places? Where would the discharged men get other places to fill? Mr. Bryan's civil service ideas fit in well with his ideas on free silver, anti-imperialism, government ownership, deposit guaranty and the 50 per cent trust remedy.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT BOOMING

T. J. Skaggs Brings Enthusiastic Reports From Trinidad and Blanca on Return From Trip.

T. J. Skaggs, secretary of the Colorado Realty Dealers association, returned yesterday afternoon from a 10 days' tour covering a portion of the southern part of the state. A visit to Trinidad afforded him an opportunity to inspect the state road being built by convict labor. This road starts at the lower state line and construction work is being pushed as rapidly as possible towards the interior. Something like eleven or twelve miles has been graded but not completed, as it is the purpose of the state to give it a heavy coat of crushed rock. Among other things, he says that one of the singular features of this convict labor is the absence of armed guards.

"There is only one fowling piece in the camp so far as I could learn," he said "and seemingly no use for that. The convicts seem to be influenced by a sentiment of honor and each is in a way a guard over all the rest. No doubt the serious objections adhered to by the prisoners against confinement within the prison walls has something to do with their loyalty to camp life and out-door work. They seem to have a horror of being returned to Canon City.

"The state appropriation for this work is decidedly short, but the citizens of Trinidad and vicinity have advanced considerable funds and rely upon the state to reimburse them. It is hoped that the next legislature will provide an ample appropriation."

Says Blanca Is Booming.

In his rounds, Mr. Skaggs spent several days in the San Luis Valley and reports that country in fine condition. The Trinchera colony, lately locating in that valley, Mr. Skaggs pronounces one of the marvels in industrial development in the west. The colony embraces 6,798 tracts ranging in size from five to 640 acres. Of these about 3,000 are 80-acre tracts.

"Work on the irrigation canal is proceeding most satisfactorily and shows at this time about 26 miles completed and the reservoir well under way," he said. "For the completion of the ditches and reservoir, a company has set aside $250,000. In addition to a trust deed on 100,000 acres of land to insure its completion. The company has also placed $50,000 in the hands of the trust company as a bonus for the first sugar-beet factory. The town of Blanca, the judicial seat of this colony, is enjoying a high wave of prosperity. New buildings are in course of erecting in all directions. The population at the present time is about 400. A hotel is soon to be erected at a cost of $40,000.

"In some respects, the citizenship of this colony in their social and commercial relations reminds one of the popular government of New Zealand and is destined to bring wonderful changes over the eastern end of the San Luis valley."

Without a warning they immediately fired on the deputy with rifles which was returned by Peyton and Rudolph. Yellow Head was one of the Indians killed; others are unknown. The squaws escaped.

ENGLAND'S POTTERY TRADE

Curious reasons for the depression in the English pottery trade were given at Stoke recently in the course of the arbitration proceedings on the demand of the potters for an increase of wages. John Ridgway, a prominent manufacturer declared that in many London hotels the head employes who were often Germans gave preference to Germany when they ordered their ware. "I also attribute the decline in the dinnerware trade to the change in the habits of life in London" continued Mr Ridgway. "Large numbers of Londoners now live in flats and dine in restaurants, and consequently they require no dinner services in their homes"

WHEAT CLOSES WEAK

QUOTATIONS SHOW NET LOSSES OF 3-8 TO 3 4C.

Market Extremely Nervous All Day. Reports Varied in Character. Corn and Provisions Firm.

CHICAGO, Oct 19—A liberal increase in the visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada caused a weak close in the local wheat market today, final quotations showing net losses of ⅜ to ¾. Oats also were weak, but corn and provisions were firm.

The weakness in the wheat market late in the day followed a period marked by extreme nervousness, during which prices fluctuated over a range of about 1 cent. The market opened easy owing to selling brought out by scattered rains in the northwest and by an official forecast of general rains tonight over the entire winter wheat belt. The market then rallied sharply on covering by shorts, who were actuated by the relative strength of the New York market, which was due it was said, to a good export demand. After another reaction on profit taking, the market again became strong on buying based on a report from Argentina, which claimed that the damage to the wheat crop there by the recent frosts was serious. During the last hour sentiment again became decidedly bearish, and prices slumped off sharply under general selling. The chief reason for the final weakness was the figures on the visible supply of wheat in this country and Canada which showed an increase of 4,840,000 bushels for the week compared with an increase of 602,000 bushels the corresponding time a year ago. Talk of liberal movement of wheat to this market tomorrow from the southwest brought out additional selling. The close was weak at almost the lowest point with December at 98⅝@½ and May $1.01⅝@¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 87,000 bushels. The amount on passage decreased 1,352,000 bushels.

The trade in corn was active buying of December delivery by shorts who were in fear that predicted rains would not only delay the movement but would also impair the quality of the new crop. The market closed firm at net gains of ⅛ to ¼@⅜ with December at 63⅞@64. May closed at 63½.

Oats were steady all day but finally yielded to the weakness of wheat and closed at net losses of ⅛ to ¼. December closed at 48 and May at 50. Liberal receipts of live hogs caused considerable selling of provisions early in the session, which resulted in moderate weakness. Later in the day, however, a firmer tone developed on buying by local traders. The market held firm the remainder of the day, final quotations showing net gains of 5 to 10c.

SECURITIES SHOW IMPROVEMENT OVER SATURDAY.

Market, However, Is Dull, and Becomes Practically Stagnant. Election Still Awaited.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—There was another demonstration today of the resiliency of stock prices from the depressing influence of the European political outlook. Opening prices were established at a point which more than made up the decline of the last of the week, caused by the new threat of hostilities in the Balkans. The level of prices being restored, the market became virtually stagnant. Foreign markets fell into a similar condition of neglect after the recovery in prices there as here.

The apathy of the speculation might be viewed as an expression of regaining apprehension of a failure of efforts for a peaceful settlement in the near east. At all events, there was no market, and the fact became obvious that the great financial powers were resting on their oars. This passive attitude did not involve any wide drift from position, as the current of the price movement was sluggish to the point of stagnation.

Incoming advices continue to show progress in business and undiminished confidence in a more active revival after the election. The prolonged advance in prices of securities is generally known from the records of the stock market, made from week to week. Some attention has been paid to this but more is being paid to the prodigious expansion of the loan item of the New York clearing house banks.

The $1,328,433,300 shown as the weekly average for the item in the Saturday bank statement brings it to a new high record. Compared with this time last year, New York bank loans have expended $261,000,000. From August 22, 1907 to September 19 1908, which are the nearest to the dates covered by the controller's abstract New York bank loans have increased $230,000,000, so that the apparent increase for the whole country of $72,000,000 is seen to change to an actual decrease of $158,000,000 outside of New York. Deposits in New York for the same period have swelled $394,179,000, and the extent of the influence of this change of interior banks is suggested in the increase of $131,255,000 shown by the controller's abstract in the amount due from national and state banks.

The inference is written large in these figures that an enormous extension of credits has been centered in the financial and speculative center in New York. At the same time the restoration of confidence on the part of the interior banks has resulted in a reflux of funds to New York on a far larger scale than before the run on deposits of these banks which precipitated the crisis last fall. The strength of the present banking position however, does not preclude the paying of serious attention to the swift loan expansion of the last few weeks, with contraction of reserves and prospect of further decline.

Neglect made prices vulnerable to some reaction from the opening level, although there was nothing like activity at any time during the day.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $2,365,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

INVENTS A RUDDER

There is on view at the Lepine toy exhibition in Paris the invention of a French engineer which will, its inventor contends, revolutionize marine and aerial navigation. The invention consists of a rotary rudder, said to be capable of turning a vessel in its own length or at any desired angle. All existing steering contrivances are limited in their action to a deflection of 90 degrees to right or left. It is claimed that by the adoption of the new invention sea collisions will be prevented and warships will be able to turn in their own length. An aeroplane fitted with the new rudder would be able to leave the ground instantly.

THE MOON WOMAN.

The Woman in the Moon is to be seen at any time between first quarter and full moon. The face of her is turned eastward, says Garrett P. Serviss in his new book, "Astronomy with the Naked Eye." The outlines of her forehead, nose, mouth and chin are formed by two seas the Sea of Showers and the Sea of Clouds, the eye is indicated by one of the small, dark, oval plains near the center, while the seas of Serenity, Tranquillity, Fertility and Nectar arrange the hair on the top and back of her head. Like a jewel on her bosom blazes the great crater ring Tycho. But let the naturalist say... men despair of her for she has never loved anyone but Endymion.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

The case of the condemnation proceedings brought by the Pikes Peak Hydro-Electric company against the heirs of Flora J. Leman was dismissed in the district court yesterday.

Direct information was filed in the district court yesterday by Deputy District Attorney O. E. Collins against James Lacey and M. F. Burke of Colorado City, charging them with assault with a deadly weapon on John Greenwald of Colorado City, on September 29. Their trial has been set for October 22.

John Richmond and William Raymond, two strangers in this city, were arrested by the city detectives yesterday charged with the theft of an overcoat from Taylor J Downer, the well-known real estate man. The men are said to have taken the coat from the hallway outside Downer's office and were arrested while trying to pawn it at a second-hand store on East Huerfano street. They will be given a hearing today in the police court.

In the court of Justice Dunnington yesterday Winfred Jeanmaysel, the young man charged with the theft of a diamond ring from Miss Stella McDowell, pleaded not guilty, and had his trial set for Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Clarence Amore, charged by Constable W. P. Larrabee with assault with a deadly weapon and who was released on bond of $300, was rearrested yesterday on a warrant sworn to by L. J. Parker, charging him with being an accomplice with Eugene Traveler in an assault committed on Parker. Amore obtained change of venue from the court of Justice W. N. Ruby to that of O. R. Dunnington, and was released on bonds of $500.

The case of May Bertha Griffith et al. vs Isaac J. Griffith, being a money demand suit, was up for hearing in the district court yesterday, and the judgment set aside. The case was on appeal from the county court.

A suit for divorce was filed in the county court yesterday by Dorothy E. Spinney against Howard C. Spinney, the complaint charging drunkenness and nonsupport. The couple were married in this city seven years ago.

GREAT COLISEUM FOR BASEBALL.

From the Pittsburg Post.

At the present growth of popular interest in baseball, the day is not distant when some structure upon the model of the Roman Coliseum, seating 87,000, or of some Grecian theater of similar capacity, will be erected in the great cities. Even the Philadelphia baseball park will not suffice. At the Polo grounds there were 35,000 people to witness the Chicago-New York pennant game, and as many more made a compact cordon without. Every element of excitement and rare game was present. In Pittsburg crowds about the Post heard the megaphone announcements by half innings, and manifested their approval of the final disposition of the flag.

Recurring to the idea of an immense amphitheater, it is suggestive to note that the Greek actors used mechanical devices inserted in their masks to reach the multitude like the megaphone is still used.

STRIKE ON LOW GRADE

CENTURY GOLD MINING CO. ENCOUNTERS ORE.

Strong Vein Has Been Found by Driving of Tunnel—New Shoot Will Be Developed.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct 19—It is reported that a strike of milling grade ore has been made on the property of the Century Gold Mining company, located on the north fork of Bernard creek, west of the town of Gillett. A tunnel has been driven into the mountain for a distance of 500 feet, and at that point a strong vein of low grade ore has been encountered. Recently a new vein has been exposed by crosscut, which returns an average of from $8 to $10 to the ton and measures eight feet between walls. The new shoot will be developed by the company, which is composed of Galena, Ill., people.

A JEWELER'S EXPERIENCE

C. R. Kluger The Jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave, Indianapolis, Ind, writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." Sold by all druggists.

DEVELOPMENT WORK PUSHED

Silver Tip, on Bull Hill, Scene of Much Activity—One-Ounce Ore Mined From Four-Foot Vein.

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 19—Whitefield and Albers, operating on the Silver Tip property on the south slope of Bull hill, are loading out ore at the rate of one car per week of one-ounce grade. The lessees are breaking the mineral from a four-foot vein, exposed at a depth of 140 feet and in addition are prosecuting a large amount of development work. At a depth of 190 feet a crosscut is being carried, which is expected to cut the extension of the shoot which is producing on the level above.

The Silver Tip is one of the Wild Horse group, owned by the United Gold Mines company.

Another Bull hill property which is producing a good grade of ore is the Pharmacist, under lease to Ward and Hills. Returns have been received from two cars recently shipped which showed better than average values. Car No 1, containing 49,480 pounds, gave values of $27.60 to the ton, and Car No 2, containing 47,000 pounds, returned $32.30. Notice has been received by the stockholders of the company that a meeting of the Pharmacist Consolidated Mining company will be held at the company's offices in this city on Tuesday, October 20.
